In the context of the transition to a low-carbon economy, solar photovoltaic is currently the fastest growing source. In Brazil, 10 GW of installed power has been added by 2022. An emerging application, Agri PV, provides synergy between photovoltaic technology and agriculture, with beneficial effects for both. Rio Grande do Sul has the third largest installed base of photovoltaic generation and is also the third largest grain producer in the country.

Therefore, Solar Promotion International and Aranda Eventos have chosen Porto Alegre to host the first Intersolar Summit Brasil Sul congress on November 7 and 8, 2023.

The same team that organizes Intersolar South America, in São Paulo, brings it to you:

- Congress focused on technology, public policies, market, financing
- Highlights for distributed generation, energy storage, Agri PV
- Lectures and debates with renowned experts and interaction with the public
- More than 50 exhibitors of products and services, in a 4,000 sqm space
- Business opportunities in a booming market
